DETAILED ACTION

Rejections Withdrawn

1. The 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph rejections in Paper # 9 (mailed 08/01/02) have been withdrawn due to Applicant's statements in Paper # 10 (filed 10/18/02) that the photosensitive constituent is defined by the cinnamoyl derivative, and that the cinnamoyl derivative is defined by the examples given in the disclosure. The biphenyl moiety is the consistent distinguishing feature of the cinnamoyl derivative.
2. The 35 U.S.C 101 double patenting rejection in Paper # 9 (mailed 08/01/02) has been withdrawn.

New Rejections

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) do not apply to the examination of this application as the application being examined was not (1) filed on or after November 29, 2000, or (2) voluntarily published under 35 U.S.C. 122(b). Therefore, this application is examined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Art Unit: 1772

4. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Kwon et al. (US 6,399,165).

Kwon et al. has a liquid crystal display device comprising first and second substrates, a first alignment layer on said first substrate, wherein the first alignment layer includes the claimed formula, and wherein at least one of the first and second alignment layers is divided into at least two domains for driving liquid crystal molecules in the liquid crystal layer differently on each domain (columns 8-12, lines 1-68).

Double Patenting

5. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

6. Claims 1-6 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of double patenting over claims 1-34 of U. S. Patent No. 6,399,165 since the claims, if allowed, would improperly extend the "right to exclude" already granted in the patent.

The subject matter claimed in the instant application is fully disclosed in the patent and is covered by the patent since the patent and the application are claiming common subject matter, as follows: Since the pyranose polymer in claim 1 of '165 is defined by the chemical formula in claim 17 of '165, and claim 1 of the present application recites the chemical formula in claim 17 of '165, claims 1-6 of the present application are claiming the same subject matter as claims 1-34 of '165.

Furthermore, there is no apparent reason why applicant was prevented from presenting claims corresponding to those of the instant application during prosecution of the application which matured into a patent. See In re Schneller, 397 F.2d 350, 158 USPQ 210 (CCPA 1968). See also MPEP § 804.

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-6 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
